DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The claims are vague and indefinite because in claim 1 the sub frame is set forth is set forth as covering an outer circumferential surface of the cylinder to form an oil flow path at a space between the main frame and the cylinder. It seems clear from the disclosure that the oil flow path is supposed to be formed between the sub frame and the cylinder.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000. Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

Claims 1, 2, 5 and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Jung et al (USPN 6,960,067).

Jung et al disclose a reciprocating compressor having a main frame (1), a cylinder (3), a sub frame (20) having stops (21 and the bend) at opposite ends thereof. There is an oil flow path between the cylinder and either of the main frame or the sub frame.

Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Oh et al (USPN 6,202,791).

Oh et al discloses a reciprocating compressor having a main frame (20 in Fig. 1), a cylinder (30), a sub frame (3 and the element near 11 forming the oil flow suction path) attached to the main frame. There is an oil flow path between the cylinder and the main frame.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 3, 4 and 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over either of Oh et al or Jung et al.

As set forth above each of Jung et al and Oh et al disclose the invention substantially as claimed but do not disclose the engaging device being either nuts and bolts or a weld. The examiner gives official notice that a weld, nuts and bolts are well known engaging means for cylinder and frame components. At the time of the invention it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to use such an engagement mechanism as a well known and simple connection means.

Oh et al and Jung et al also do not disclose that the frame and sub frame are made of non-magnetic materials. The examiner gives official notice that it is well known to make frame and support members of compressors of non-magnetic material such as aluminum or steel in order to create light, strong and durable support devices.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claim 7 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
